Teacher completes the Self assessment for approval to teach in a new subject on the basis of teaching experience to determine the likelihood of success of the application. New scheme teachers are required to have achieved accreditation at Proficient Teacher with the Board of Studies, Teaching and Educational Standards (BOSTES) in their initial teaching area before applying for recognition for approval to teach in another subject/teaching area.

Teacher reviews amount and nature of teaching experience. A minimum of two years full-time relevant experience or equivalent part-time or casual experience in NSW public schools is necessary within the last five years.

To gain primary teaching approval, experience in teaching English and mathematics and at least one other primary key learning area (KLA) is required. Experience in teaching across more than one stage is required. Experience must include at least one full term on a primary class.

To gain approval for a Year 7-10 subject, experience in teaching at least one full year course for Years 7 or 8, and one full year course for Years 9 or 10 is required.

To gain approval for a Year 11-12 subject, experience in teaching at least one full Year 11 preliminary course and one full Year 12 HSC course is required.

To gain approval for a Year 7-12 subject, experience in teaching at least one full Year 11 preliminary course and one full Year 12 HSC course is required. Experience teaching Year 7-10 classes is desirable.

Teacher has a conversation with his/her supervisor and principal(s) to discuss his/her intent to proceed with seeking approval for recognition of prior experience using completed self assessment.

Teacher collects supporting documentation to demonstrate his/her teaching experience using the Board of Studies syllabus documents as a guide. There are four focus areas against which to gather evidence: teaching new subject content; planning; assessment and reporting; and engaging in professional learning. The Australian Professional Standards for Teachers can also be used as a guide, in particular Standards 2, 3, 5 and 6. Use the Self assessment for approval to teach in a new subject on the basis of teaching experience when considering the focus of the documentation to present.
The teacher's supporting documentation is validated by the signature of his/her supervisor. If a casual or temporary teacher uses supporting documentation from more than one school, they need to seek validation of those documents from the supervisor at each school.

The teacher completes the application form and submits it to the principal with the supporting documentation. If a casual or temporary teacher is using experience from more than one school, the principal of an additional school must confirm that experience.

The principal reviews the entire application with the supporting documentation and makes a decision to confirm or suggest further experience is necessary.

If the principal confirms the application, he or she completes the report by making a recommendation for approval in the additional subject.

If the principal does not confirm the application, he or she gives feedback to the teacher for future re-submission.

If proceeding, the principal completes the form and keeps a copy of the teaching documentation.

The teacher keeps a copy and submits the confirmed application to HR Shared Services, Blacktown.

HR Shared Services, Blacktown checks the teacher’s experience. The application is endorsed by the Director of HR Shared Services or nominee after consultation with the principal(s) if required.

The teacher is informed of approval by HR Shared Services, Blacktown and the appropriate code is added to the teacher’s personnel records.
